 - iii. The Association shall have carriage of all grievances. No grievance may proceed to Step 1 unless it has been assumed by the Association.
 - iv. All written communications pursuant to this Article shall be by registered mail or receipted hand delivery and receipt of notification shall be deemed to be the date of delivery of such communications.

11.02 Definitions

- a) A grievance is any dispute or difference between the parties that has not been resolved informally (as described in Article 11.05) arising from the application, interpretation, administration, or alleged violation of this Collective Agreement, including any question as to whether the matter is arbitrable.
- b) For the purposes of interpretation of this Article, the meaning of "circumstance" shall include the occurrence of those specific facts that give rise to the disputed application, interpretation, administration, or alleged violation of this Collective Agreement, including any alleged failure to apply or administer this Collective Agreement.

11.03 Types of Grievance

- a) An individual grievance is a grievance initiated by the Association on behalf of an individual Faculty Member, who is solely affected. Only one (1) grievance concerning the same circumstance will be recognized. Where grievances are similar, the Parties agree to make the necessary arrangements to hear the grievances as a group grievance.
- b) A group grievance is a grievance involving the same issue in dispute initiated by the Association on behalf of two or more Faculty Members, who alone are affected. The grievance shall name only the Faculty Members who have given written consent to be named therein. Any remedy shall be restricted to the Faculty Members so named.

- c) A policy grievance is a grievance initiated by either party involving the interpretation, application or alleged violation of this Collective Agreement that has implications generally for Faculty Members. A policy grievance cannot be initiated when the substance of the grievance could have been initiated as an individual grievance but for the lack of consent of the employee affected. A policy grievance by the Employer can only name the Association. Policy grievances shall be filed at Step 2 of the grievance procedure.

11.04 Time Limits

- a) Any time limits in this Article may be extended by agreement between the Parties in writing. If the grieving party fails to act within the time limits set out at any of the stages or steps of the grievance and arbitration procedure and has not within that period requested and been granted an extension of time, the grievance will be considered abandoned or resolved on the basis of the responding party's last response as the case may be. If the responding party or its representative(s) fail(s) to reply to a grievance within the time limits set out at any of the stages or steps of the grievance or arbitration procedure, and has not within that period requested and been granted an extension of time, the grieving party may submit the grievance to the next step of the procedure.
- b) One or more steps in the grievance procedure may be omitted upon the written agreement of both Parties.

11.05 Informal Resolution

- a) Except as otherwise specified, a Member or group of Members must attempt to resolve a dispute by informal discussion with his/her/their Dean/Associate Dean before the initiation of a formal grievance. The Member or group of Members must contact the Dean/Associate Dean within twenty (20) Days of when the Member(s) knew or reasonably ought to have known of the circumstance giving rise to the dispute. Within ten (10) days of receiving the contact the Dean/Associate Dean shall convene a meeting in order to deal with the matter. The Member or group of Members presenting the complaint(s) has the right to have an Association representative, present at this meeting at his/her/their request. Prior to the meeting the Dean shall inform the Member or group of Members, in writing, of this right. The Dean/Associate Dean shall respond with a decision within no more than five (5) Days. Should the Dean or Associate Dean declare a conflict of interest, the Dean or Associate Dean shall withdraw from the proceedings. The Provost shall appoint a Dean or an Associate Dean from another Faculty as a substitute. The original timeline as specified in 11.05 a) shall be followed.

- b) If (a) Faculty Member(s) fail(s) to respond to any request for a meeting relative to the informal grievance within fifteen (15) Days of the delivery of notification of such a request, the Member shall be deemed to have abandoned the complaint.
- c) Instead of the informal procedure set out in 11.05 a) to c), the Member has the right to contact the Association directly to raise an issue on their behalf. The Association may raise an issue on behalf of a Faculty Member or Members with the Vice President Human Resources and Services within twenty (20) Days of when the Faculty Member(s) knew or reasonably ought to have known of the circumstance giving rise to the issue. These Parties may resolve the issue or make suggestions to their principals that may resolve the issue. The Vice President Human Resources and Services shall respond to such an issue within ten (10) Days of it being brought forward by the Association.

11.06 Formal Grievance Process

a) Step 1

- i. Where there is no resolution at the informal stage or the Dean has not responded with the timelines in 11.05 a) the Association may decide to proceed with a formal grievance. The grievance must be filed with the Dean/Associate Dean in writing within ten (10) Days of the Dean or Associate Dean's response to the informal complaint under 11.05 c) or the failure to resolve the issue under 11.05 d). The grievance shall set out the details of the circumstance giving rise to the grievance, specify the Article or Articles which has or have been allegedly breached, and identify the remedy sought.
- ii. The Dean/Associate Dean or designate, who may be accompanied by another representative of the Employer, shall meet with an Association representative and the Faculty Member(s) within ten (10) Days from the receipt of the grievance. The Dean/Associate Dean or designate shall forward his/her written decision to the Association with a copy to Human Resources within five (5) Days of such meeting.
- iii. If the Grievance is resolved at this Step, such settlement shall be reduced to writing and signed by the Association representative and the Dean/Associate Dean or designate within five (5) Days after the Step 1 meeting or the response of the Dean/Associate Dean, as the case may be.

b) Step 2

- i. Failing a resolution at Step 1, the grievance may proceed to Step 2 within five (5) Days of receipt of the decision at Step 1. A grievance filed at Step 2 shall be submitted in writing to the Provost through the Vice President

Human Resources and Services, or in the case of a University policy grievance, to the President of the Association.

- ii. Policy grievances initiated at Step 2 must be filed within fifteen (15) Days of the date upon which the submitting party knew or ought reasonably to have known of the circumstance giving rise to the grievance.
 - iii. The Provost or designate, who may be accompanied by another representative of the Employer, shall meet with an Association representative and the member(s) affected within ten (10) Days from the receipt of the grievance.
 - iv. If the grievance is resolved at this Step, such settlement shall be reduced to writing and signed by the Association representative and the Provost or designate within ten (10) Days after the date of the Step 2 meeting.
 - v. If no settlement is reached at Step 2, the Provost or designate, shall within ten (10) Days after the date of the last meeting forward his/her written decision to the Association with a copy to the Vice President Human Resources and Services.
 - vi. In the case of a University policy grievance, the President of the Faculty Association shall within ten (10) Days after the date of the last meeting forward his/her written decision to the Provost with a copy to the Vice President Human Resources and Services.
 - vii. The Faculty Association will advise the Provost within ten (10) Days of the receiving his/her decision under iv) whether or not the grievance can be considered resolved on the basis of his/her decision.
 - viii. In the event that arbitration is commenced under Article 23.02 d) and the arbitration hearing date is scheduled prior to completing Step 2 the hearing date shall take precedence over completion of Step 2.
- c) Step 3 Arbitration
- i. If the grievance(s) is not resolved with the Step 2 response and either party wishes to proceed with the grievance it must be submitted to arbitration within fifteen (15) Days of the Step 2 response.
 - ii. The Parties shall select one arbitrator from the list of arbitrators in Appendix "C" of this Agreement. Unless otherwise agreed, arbitrators shall be selected on a rotating basis from the list.
 - iii. Alternately the Parties by mutual agreement may agree that the grievance will be referred to a Board of Arbitration. The Parties shall then exchange names of their respective nominees to a Board of Arbitration within ten (10) Days of first being notified of the desire to proceed to a Board of Arbitration. The two (2) nominees shall then attempt to select a third person as a chairperson for the Board of Arbitration. If they are unable to agree on a chairperson within ten (10) Days of their appointment to the Board of Arbitration then either party shall have the right to request that the Ministry of Labour appoint a chairperson for the Board of Arbitration.

- iv. An arbitrator or Board of Arbitration has the powers of an arbitrator under the Ontario Labour Relations Act, but shall not have the power to alter, amend, add to or subtract from this Collective Agreement or to render a decision inconsistent with its terms.
- v. A decision of an arbitrator or Board of Arbitration will be final and binding on the Parties.
- vi. Both Parties agree to pay fifty percent (50%) of the fees and expenses of the single Arbitrator or Chairperson for the Board of Arbitration, as the case may be. In the case of a Board of Arbitration each party will also pay the fees and expenses of its nominee.
- vii. Any grievance initiated or in process during the statutory extension between the expiry date of this Collective Agreement and the ratification of a new Collective Agreement between the parties may proceed to arbitration under the terms of this Collective Agreement.

Article 12 - Health and Safety

- 12.01 The Parties recognize their responsibilities under the Ontario Occupational Health and Safety Act to provide an environment that protects the health and safety of employees as they carry out their work responsibilities.

Article 13 - Working Environment

- 13.01 The Employer acknowledges its responsibility to provide and maintain facilities, services and general working conditions which support employees in the effective discharge of their responsibilities.
- 13.02 The Employer will make every reasonable effort to provide a private office for each Faculty Member. If the Employer is not able to provide a private office for a Faculty Member, the Employer may require the Member to share office space for

Appendix “B” - Benefits Coverage

Major Medical Plan

The following table provides a summary of the medical coverage provided for an employee and his/her family through the Employer’s Benefits Plan. The medical benefit has been designed to work in conjunction with the Health Care Expense Account (described below).

BENEFIT	COVERAGE
Hospital	100% coverage of the cost of a semi-private room $175 daily maximum
Prescription Drugs (includes drug card)	90% coverage for drugs on formulary 80% coverage for other drugs requiring a Rx $8 dispensing fee cap
Vision	100% coverage; $150 every 2 years
Hearing Aids	100% coverage; $300 every 2 years

Private Duty Nursing	80% up to $10,000 per year
Other Medical Services & Supplies	80% coverage of reasonable and customary expenses
Out-of-Country Emergency	100% coverage of reasonable and customary expenses

Dental Plan

The following table provides a summary of the dental coverage available to an employee and his/her family through the Employer's Benefits Plan. Like the medical benefit, dental coverage has been designed to work in conjunction with the Health Care Expense Account (described below).

BENEFIT	COVERAGE
Preventive and Basic (includes oral exams, x-rays, polishing, scaling, fillings, endodontics, periodontics)	80% coverage
Major (includes crowns, bridges, dentures, inlays/onlays)	50% coverage
Annual Maximum	$1,200 for Preventive/Basic and Major combined
Children's Orthodontia	50% coverage $1,500 lifetime maximum per child
Dental Fee Guide	Current
Recall Exams	Every 9 months

Health Care Expense Account (HCEA)

Each January 1st, the Employer will deposit $500 into a Health Care Expense Account (HCEA) in the employee's name. This amount will increase to $750 effective July 1, 2012 and to $900 effective January 1, 2014. In addition, employees have the flexibility to direct up to two percent (2%) of their pensionable earnings to the HCEA from the Employer's supplemental contribution to the employees' pension plans. Through the HCEA, an employee can pay for eligible health care expenses not fully covered by the UOIT Benefits Plan.

The benefit of using the HCEA to pay for health care expenses is that, by doing so, employees use before-tax contributions from the Employer, rather than their own after-tax income. The money the Employer deposits in an employee's HCEA is not subject to federal or provincial taxes. The HCEA also provides reimbursement for a broader range of health care services such as prescription sunglasses, laser eye surgery, orthodontia expenses above plan maximums, coinsurance amounts, and prescription drugs not covered under the plan. A list of all eligible HCEA expenses are available from Human Resources.

The CRA gives employees a tax break on this account, but an employee has two calendar years to use any money deposited in his/her HCEA or it is forfeited.

Disability Benefits

If an employee is unable to work because of illness or injury, the Employer offers two plans that provide employees with income protection – the short-term disability plan and the long-term disability plan.

Short-Term Disability (STD)

STD pays a percentage of an employee's base salary due to illness or injury, for up to 52 weeks (one hundred percent (100%) of an employee's base salary for the first 26 weeks, followed by seventy-five percent (75%) of base salary for up to an additional 26 weeks).

Long-Term Disability (LTD)

Once an employee's 52 weeks of STD benefits have finished, he/she may qualify for LTD coverage that provides him/her with income protection for the duration of his/her disability. Since employees pay for this coverage any benefits received from the plan are tax free. The formula below is designed to provide eighty-five percent (85%) of an employee's pre-disability net income (up to a maximum benefit of $8,000/month).

66.67% of the first $27,000 of your base salary + 58% of the next $36,000 of your base salary + $46% of the balance of your base salary

Life Insurance

The Benefits Plan offers several types of insurance for an employee, his/her spouse and/or child(ren). If an employee chooses employee and/or spouse's optional life insurance coverage, he/she may be required, by the Insurance Carrier, to provide evidence of insurability.

A) Employee Basic Life Insurance

Through the basic life insurance benefits, an employee automatically receives coverage equivalent to:

- One times his/her base salary

The coverage is one hundred percent (100%) paid for by the Employer. The maximum basic life insurance benefit is $250,000.

B) Employee Optional Life Insurance

In addition to the basic life insurance provided by the Employer, an employee can purchase additional life insurance coverage for him/herself that the employee pays for through payroll deductions. The optional coverage available is:

- up to $500,000 of employee optional life insurance coverage in units of $10,000.

C) Spouse and Child(ren)'s Optional Life Insurance

An employee can purchase life insurance coverage for his/her spouse and dependent child(ren). The employee pays for the cost of this coverage through payroll deductions. The optional spouse's and children's coverage available is:

- up to $500,000 of spouse's optional life insurance coverage in units of $10,000
- up to $15,000 of children's optional life insurance coverage in units of $5,000

Accidental Death and Dismemberment (AD&D)

AD&D Insurance provides coverage should an employee or a covered dependent die or become seriously injured as the result of an accident. Through the Benefits Plan, employees have access to AD&D for themselves, their spouse and/or dependent children.

A) Employee Basic AD&D Insurance

Through the basic AD&D insurance benefit, an employee automatically receives coverage equivalent to:

- one times his/her base salary.

The coverage is one hundred percent (100%) paid for by the Employer. The maximum basic AD&D insurance benefit is $250,000.

B) Employee Optional AD&D Insurance

In addition to the basic AD&D insurance benefit, an employee can purchase additional AD&D insurance coverage for him/herself that the employee pays for through payroll deductions. The optional coverage available is:

- up to $250,000 of employee optional AD&D insurance coverage in units of $10,000.

C) Spouse and Child(ren)'s Optional AD&D Insurance

If an employee decides to purchase AD&D insurance coverage for his/her spouse and/or dependent children, he/she would pay for the cost of this coverage through payroll deductions. The optional spouse's and children's coverage available is:

- up to $150,000 of spouse's optional AD&D insurance coverage in units of $10,000
- up to $15,000 of children's optional AD&D insurance coverage in units of $5,000

Pension Plan

The UOIT Pension Plan is a defined contribution plan where the employee and the Employer work together to help build an employee's retirement savings.

How the Plan Works

Contributions by UOIT

Under the Pension Plan, there are two components to the Employer's contribution:

- 1) A basic contribution of six percent (6%) of the employee's pensionable earnings, and
- 2) A supplemental contribution of two percent (2%) of an employee's pensionable earnings.

Through the supplemental component of the University's contribution, each year an employee will have the flexibility to decide how to direct part or all of the Employer's two percent (2%) supplemental contribution (in 0.5% increments) to either the Pension Plan or the Health Care Expense Account. The Employer's contributions to the Pension Plan are immediately vested (i.e. an employee immediately owns these contributions).

Under the Income Tax Act, there is a limit on combined employee and employer contributions to the Pension Plan. This limit will change annually and further information is available through Human Resources. Any Employer contributions in excess of this limit will be directed to an account held outside the Pension Plan, known as the Supplemental Retirement Arrangement.

Contributions by the Employee

In addition to the Employer's contribution, each year an employee will be required to make a contribution of three percent (3%) of his/her pensionable earnings to the plan. An employee may also decide to make voluntary contributions to the plan of one percent (1%), two percent (2%) or three percent (3%) of his/her pensionable earnings.

Basic UOIT Contribution		Supplemental UOIT Contribution		Required Faculty Contribution		Voluntary Faculty Contribution		Total
6%	+	0% to 2% (as elected by the employee)	+	3%	+	0% to 3% (as elected by the employee)	=	9% to 14%

Investing Contributions to the Pension Plan

An employee decides how his/her contributions and the Employer's contributions are invested by selecting from a list of investment funds. Sun Life Financial is the administrator of the Pension Plan and will register and track an employee's investment choices.

Receiving Your Pension

When an employee retires or leaves UOIT, he/she will be able to transfer his/her account balance from the Pension Plan to a locked-in retirement account or use his/her balance to purchase an annuity. Any voluntary contributions an employee has made to the Pension Plan are not considered "locked-in" and can be withdrawn or transferred at that time to a non-locked-in investment vehicle.

Appendix “D” - Intellectual Property

Preamble

The university believes that efforts to increase and to communicate knowledge are at the heart of academic endeavors. Often these endeavors will result in the creation of Intellectual Property that may be of benefit to the broader society. In general, the university believes that the creators of intellectual property should retain rights in it in cases where the creators are academic personnel. Normally, when the creators are non-academic personnel, the university will claim all rights to intellectual property because it assumes that it was created in the course of the creators' employment with the university, or was commissioned by the university. The university also believes that significant investments of university funds should not be exploited solely for private gain. Accordingly, the goal of these policies is to encourage the creation of intellectual property, and to facilitate its development and commercialization, while ensuring that the academic freedom and interests of university personnel, and of the university itself, are safeguarded.

Applicability

These intellectual property policies apply to all university personnel who make or develop intellectual property using university support. They also apply, with necessary changes, to external contractors if the terms of their contracts with the university do not specify ownership of the intellectual property produced under the terms of the contract.

These policies do not apply to intellectual property created by independent efforts, in the course of demonstrably private research, or in the course of private consulting activities to outside bodies, when such activities do not involve any substantial use of university support, and where the university has approved such consulting activities.

Definitions

Terms used in these policies are defined in Appendix A.

1. Policy on Ownership and Acknowledgement of Intellectual Property

1.1 Ownership

Subject to the exceptions and limitations herein, the university's policy is that academic personnel should own the intellectual property created by them in the course of their teaching, research and academic work.

Exceptions to the above are as follows:

- a) The university retains ownership of intellectual property resulting from projects specifically commissioned by the university.

- b) In externally-sponsored or contract research activities, ownership of intellectual property may be determined in whole or in part by regulations of the sponsor or the terms of the contract. University personnel participating in these research activities must be made aware of any such regulations or contract terms by the principal investigator (i.e. the leader of the research project).

The university owns intellectual property created by non-academic personnel in the course of their employment.

1.2 License

To the extent that ownership of intellectual property governed by these policies is vested in university personnel, such intellectual property is subject to a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license in favour of the university for teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic purposes. Such licenses are subject to the exceptions and limitations contained in these policies, including the right of the creator in certain circumstances to require discontinuance of use after five years.

1.3 Responsibilities

One of the responsibilities of researchers is the obligation to ensure that their work is published or publicly disseminated in some manner. At the university, this responsibility is shared by all material contributors to the work. In reporting scholarly research results, all creators of a publication must examine and accept responsibility for its contents, and all members of a research team must ensure that appropriate credit be given for the contributions of all contributors.

1.4 Recognition

Creators of a publication comprise all, and only, those individuals who have made a significant intellectual or scholarly contribution to the work reported, and without whose contribution the work would not be complete. All contributors to research projects and other scholarly works must receive appropriate recognition for their contributions. The order of listing of contributors should follow existing traditions of the discipline. No decisions concerning the publication or licensing of a work may be made without the unanimous agreement of all the creators. Depending on the nature of a contribution, appropriate recognition may take the form of, but is not limited to, recognition as a creator, or recognition through an acknowledgement or citation. An administrative relationship to the investigator(s) does not merit credit, nor is financial support sufficient on its own to merit such credit.

1.5 Acknowledgement of the University

In reporting their work, university personnel shall acknowledge the University of Ontario Institute of Technology for the support it provided. In the spirit of collegiality, creators of intellectual property are encouraged to recognize the university's support through a financial contribution.

1.6 Use of the University's Name and Marks

In order to protect its reputation, the university must control the use of its name and marks. This requirement is especially important in the context of non-university sponsored commercialization of intellectual property. Under no circumstances may the university be presented, directly or indirectly, as endorsing or warranting a particular product. Accordingly, any use of the university's name or any university-owned mark in connection with any product, service, research project or work, apart from indication of the institutional affiliation of the creator(s), requires explicit written permission from the university's Associate Provost, Research.

For additional information on the use of the university's marks, please refer to the Guidelines on Use of the University's Marks, which can be found on the university website.

1.7 Third-Party Rights

University personnel are expected to respect third-party intellectual property rights. This obligation precludes the unauthorized use, reproduction, modification, translation or adaptation of software, photocopied textbooks, and the like, unless permission has been obtained from the copyright holder.

For additional information, please refer to the Integrity in Research and Scholarship Policy, which can be found on the university website.

1.8 Collaborative Research

The university encourages researchers to share information and to work in collaboration with others, where this is likely to advance the state of knowledge. Collaboration agreements between academic personnel and researchers at outside institutions, agencies, and companies must specify, in advance and in writing, how the process by which the rights to intellectual property arising out of the collaboration will be determined. The determination of rights shall be based on the extent and nature of the contribution, and not on differences in power or rank. The rights of students involved in research projects, particularly with respect to recognition and the assignment of grades must be protected. Where university facilities and/or funds administered by the university are involved, the university must be a party to the agreement. Any waiver or modification of rights requires informed consent.

1.9 Further Information

These policies are not intended to provide a general explanation of the legal principles and practical implications associated with intellectual property. For a general explanation, please refer to the Guidelines on Intellectual Property, which can be found on the university website.

2. Policy on Copyright and Patents

2.1 Copyright

The general principles regarding copyright in works created by university personnel is stated in Policy 1.1.

In addition to the provisions of Policy 1.1, the university's grant of copyright ownership in scholarly works created by academic personnel in the course of teaching, research and academic activities shall be subject to the condition that the creator(s) shall grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to copy, use and modify such works in teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities within the university. The creator(s) shall waive all moral rights in the works to the extent necessary to exercise such license rights.

The creator(s) may, however, after five years discontinue the university's license in the works due to the content of the works becoming out-of-date or being in the judgment of the creator acting reasonably, inappropriately used by the university. Evidence of the reasons for discontinuance must be provided by the creator to the Associate Provost, Research. If the discontinuance is denied by the Associate Provost, Research, the creator has the right to appeal such a denial under the provisions of Article 8.

Under special circumstances involving creators' rights to the special and proprietary intellectual content of the works in question, creators have the right to request exemption of some or all of these works from this provision. If such a request is denied by the Associate Provost, Research, the creator has the right to appeal such a denial under the provisions of Article 8.

2.2 Patents

The general principles regarding Patent rights in Inventions created by university personnel is stated in Policy 1.1.

In addition to the provisions of Policy 1.1, the ownership by university personnel of Patent rights in Inventions created by them shall be subject to the following conditions:

- a) The creator(s) shall grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to make, use, and sell such patented or patentable Inventions solely for the university's teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities.
- b) The creator(s) shall keep the university informed about all patent filings in Canada and other countries through annual activity reports or other appropriate means.

3. Policy on Teaching Materials, Computer Software, and Databases

3.1 Teaching Materials

The issue of ownership of teaching materials is especially complex when it involves course content and materials which are a product of academic research, and therefore owned by the faculty member, but the presentation of which is significantly contributed to by non-academic personnel of the university from the Centre of Academic Excellence and Innovation and elsewhere, and is therefore to that extent owned by the university. Accordingly, there is particular need for clear policies and procedures to determine who will share in any benefits resulting from the development and commercialization of such intellectual property.

Notwithstanding Policy 1.1, the grant of ownership of copyright in teaching materials to the academic personnel who create these materials is limited. Copyright ownership of teaching materials, the creation of which was significantly contributed to by non-academic personnel, is shared equally by the creator(s) and the university. In the event that such teaching materials are commercialized, the provisions of Article 6 will apply.

In addition to the provisions of Policy 1.1, the university's grant of copyright ownership in teaching materials shall be subject to the condition that, to the extent the creator(s) have rights in such teaching materials, they shall grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to copy, use and modify such teaching materials in teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities within the university. The creator(s) shall waive all moral rights in the teaching materials to the extent necessary to exercise such license rights.

The creator(s) may, however, after five years discontinue the university's license in the teaching materials due to the content of the teaching materials becoming out-of-date or being inappropriately used by the university. Evidence of the reasons for discontinuance must be provided by the creator to the Associate Provost, Research. If the discontinuance is denied by the Associate Provost, Research, the creator has the right to appeal such a denial under the provisions of Article 8.

Under special circumstances involving creators' rights to the special and proprietary intellectual content of the teaching materials in question, creators have the right to request exemption of some or all of these teaching materials from this provision. If such a request is denied by the Associate Provost, Research, the creator has the right to appeal such a denial under the provisions of Article 8.

3.2 Computer Software

Notwithstanding Policy 1.1, the grant of ownership of copyright in computer software to the academic personnel who create these materials is limited. Copyright ownership of computer software, the creation of which was significantly contributed to by non-academic personnel, is shared equally by the creator(s) and the university. In the event that such computer software is commercialized, the provisions of Article 6 will apply.

In addition to the provisions of Policy 1.1, the university's grant of copyright ownership in computer software shall be subject to the following conditions:

- a) To the extent the creator(s) have rights in such computer software, the creator(s) shall grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to copy, use and modify such computer software in teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities within the university. The creator(s) shall waive all moral rights in the computer software to the extent necessary to exercise such license rights.
- b) The creator(s) shall provide the university with all source code, object code and relevant documentation, together with all updates thereto from time to time, in respect of the computer software for the purposes of the license rights granted in paragraph (a) above.

3.3 Data and Database Management

Databases created in the course of research may be copyrightable and thus fall under the copyright policy (See Article 2.1).

This Policy is concerned with the ownership of, and the right to use, original data collected or measured in the course of teaching, academic and research activities involving academic personnel. It is not concerned with data from external sources used in research at the university, other than to assert the obligation that publications or theses using such data must recognize and fully document their sources.

Academic personnel have the obligation to protect and preserve, for a reasonable period (defined by the norms of the discipline), and to make available to other scholars and non-commercial users, the data on which their work is based.

Ownership of data assembled by academic personnel in the course of their research may be contentious and, because access to it is important for research and scholarship, ownership shall be jointly held by the university and the creator(s), notwithstanding Policy 1.1, subject to the following conditions:

- a) To the extent that the creator(s) have rights in such data, the creator(s) grant the university a perpetual, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license to copy and use any or all such data in teaching (including distance and continuing education), research and academic activities within the university.

- b) The creator(s) shall make available the resulting data set(s), after completion and publication of the thesis or paper on which the data set is based, to other university personnel for royalty-free, non-commercial use in teaching, research and academic activities within the university.

Notwithstanding the above, all university personnel have the collegial obligation to allow the owner(s) of such data a first opportunity to exploit those data for published work.

Exceptions to these rules are allowed only when the research is subject to confidentiality requirements due to contractual arrangements with a sponsoring agency, to publication delays associated with patent applications, or to university ethics constraints on research involving human subjects or animals which are contained in the Research Ethics Policy and Procedures, which can be found on the university's website. In the case of contractual limitations, all collaborators must be made aware of, and agree in advance to, such constraints.

4. Policy on Contract Research

4.1 Ownership of Intellectual Property in Contract Research

In externally-sponsored or contract research activities, ownership of intellectual property rights may be determined in whole or in part by the regulations of the sponsor, or by the terms of the contract. Consistent with the university's policies on Research, which can be found on the university website, academic personnel must retain the right to publish their work within a reasonable period, and to use the results of the research in subsequent projects, recognising the limitations that may derive from proprietary data, and must adhere to the academic and professional standards of their disciplines. All academic personnel participating in such research activities must be made aware of any ownership stipulations of the contract by the principal investigator, or by any other designated leader of the research project.

Guidelines on reasonable limitations/exceptions are:

- a) University personnel entering into a relationship that will limit their enjoyment of normal academic benefits of their research must enter into it with informed consent.
- b) Externally sponsored or contract research contracts will be negotiated by the Associate Provost, Research in consultation with the academic personnel proposing to undertake such research activities.
- c) In situations where companies or agencies that fund research retain ownership of intellectual property generated by that research, some other academic benefit must be derived. That is, the research must support the generation and dissemination of knowledge in some other way (for example, by funding laboratories that directly support other research). Whether any agreement for sponsored research will result in academic benefit to the academic personnel and the university will be decided by the Associate Provost, Research in consultation with the academic personnel and the appropriate Dean. Decisions of the Associate Provost, Research may be appealed under the provisions of Article 8.

- d) It is the responsibility of academic personnel to ensure that the terms of their consulting agreements with third parties, which must have the approval of the Associate Provost, Research do not conflict with their commitments to the university. Each individual must make the nature of her/his obligations to the university clear to any third party for whom she/he expects to consult.

4.2 Confidential Disclosure Agreements

A Confidential Disclosure Agreement [CDA], sometimes referred to as a secrecy, confidentiality or non-disclosure agreement, is used when one party wishes to disclose confidential information to a second party, but wishes the second party to maintain the confidentiality of the information. Non-disclosure provisions can either stand alone as a separate agreement or be incorporated into a broader agreement.

In the event that a corporate sponsor wishes academic personnel to use confidential information, or that academic personnel wish to disclose confidential information, such as a patent application, to a third party, a CDA must be entered into to protect both parties.

All CDAs must be submitted to the Associate Provost, Research for review. If the terms of a CDA extend to other participants in a project or activity, it is the responsibility of the principal investigator to inform all participants of their obligations under the CDA and, if necessary, to develop CDAs for them.

4.3 Material Transfer Agreements

Materials, for example biological materials, are often distributed by scientists to their colleagues for a variety of purposes, such as duplication and confirmation of experimental results or evaluation of the material for alternate uses. Such intellectual property is an important factor in attracting research funding. For this reason, the university will help academic personnel review Material Transfer Agreements [MTAs] and other agreements that arise out of their interaction with industry. All such agreements must be approved by the Associate Provost, Research. In all cases, the university requires researchers to sign an MTA to ensure that these materials are used only for scientific research and not for commercial applications. If the material is being transferred for commercial application, its use shall be governed by a license agreement.

Each MTA requires university authorization and an authorized university signature. academic personnel must enter into an MTA prior to distributing or receiving any such materials.

Because MTAs often contain restrictions on intellectual property and publication, all MTAs must be submitted to the Associate Provost, Research for review. If the terms and conditions of the MTA are unacceptable to the university, the Associate Provost, Research, in consultation with the researcher, will attempt to negotiate other terms acceptable to all parties.

5. Other Types of Intellectual Property

Other types of intellectual property in Canada and other jurisdictions include industrial designs, trade-marks, domain names, integrated circuit topographies, plant breeders' rights and trade secret rights. While different types of intellectual property have different rules and requirements governing their protection, these types of intellectual property follow the same philosophy as outlined in Policy 1.

If you have any questions concerning other types of intellectual property and the university's Policies, please contact the Associate Provost, Research.

6. Policy on the Commercialization of Intellectual Property

6.1 Timely Disclosure

Academic Personnel who have developed intellectual property which they intend to commercialize must inform the Associate Provost, Research in advance, in writing, and in a timely way of their intentions. Such disclosure must include the nature of the intellectual property, the names of all co-creators, the source of funding for the research project out of which the intellectual property emerged, and any other relevant information. At the time of disclosure, the university will inform the creator(s) that they may commercialize the intellectual property themselves, or may offer it to the university to commercialize, and will provide sources of information about those options.

6.2 Commercialization by the Creators

When creator(s) elect to commercialize the intellectual property, they assume responsibility for legally protecting and marketing it, finding a licensee, negotiating a license agreement, and administering that agreement. Any such license agreement must contain full and complete releases and indemnification in favour of the university, with respect to the commercialized intellectual property. Such creator(s) will pay the university 25% of Net Revenues arising from the intellectual property or 10% of Gross Revenue, whichever is greater, on an annual basis.

Any such intellectual property shall remain subject to the license and other rights of the university under these policies.

Where Academic and non-academic personnel are co-creators of an intellectual property and where the university has not waived its ownership rights as the employer of such non-academic personnel, then the university's Associate Provost, Research shall represent the university's interest in all matters related to this intellectual property, including but not limited to Patents, sale, licensing or any other commercialization activity.

If creators pursue commercialization on their own, the university is not responsible for any legal, development, marketing and other costs they may incur, including patent prosecutions.

6.3 Commercialization by the University

Creator(s), at their option, may offer the intellectual property to the university for commercialization. The university retains the absolute and sole right to determine if it wishes to accept such intellectual property for commercialization.

Before the university accepts any assignment, it may seek a commercial and/or technical assessment. Prior to the university conducting any such assessment, the university shall require the creator(s) to enter into an agreement with the following terms and conditions:

- a) If the university accepts the offer, then the creator(s) agree to assign all intellectual property Rights and other rights to the university, including assignments of Patents, if any. The university shall thereafter deal with such rights, including any further assignment to some specialized external agency, as it deems most expedient. The university shall assume sole responsibility and authority for legally protecting and marketing the intellectual property, finding a licensee or buyer, determining the terms of the license or sale, negotiating a license or sale agreement, and administering that agreement. The university shall retain 75% of Net Revenue arising from the intellectual property, and the creator(s) shall receive 25%, payable on an annual basis, unless the university and the creator(s) agree to a fixed percentage of Gross Revenue that is of equal or greater value for the university.
- b) If, because of this assessment, the university decides not to act to protect and/or commercialize the rights to the intellectual property, these rights shall be returned to the creator(s).
