4. New Business
   a. Intellectual Property Policy — Preliminary discussion
      Joe Miller (guest) gave an overview of the Intellectual Property Policy.
      Question about thesis defense withholding due to IP without IP registered with ORS. Agreed that if there’s nothing filed with ORS, there’s no IP and therefore the thesis defense should not be withheld.
      M. Owen noted that issues arise as new students are recruited to on-going projects and may not realize or have been given the information about restrictions on IP.
      The onus is on the Faculty Member to inform any of their collaborators (including students) and have these collaborators sign a participant agreement. J. Freeman noted that ORS is looking into a “student on-boarding” process. Other suggestions: include a notice in the offer letter from HR, inform summer students, etc.
      J. Freeman reminded members of the UOIT IP policy which is “creator owned” and the reciprocal obligations between the university and the creators (faculty members, students).
      Question about “retaining rights to the IP” – as soon as IP is developed it needs to be disclosed to ORS and the researcher should indicate whether s/he intends to pursue IP on their own. Even if the researcher takes on the responsibilities, and earns royalties, there is a clause regarding royalties to be paid to UOIT.
      Identified issues – many procedures mixed into the policy – looking to remove the procedures. Copyright ownership, IP generated by graduates. Lack of policy about spin-offs and start-ups.
      ACTION: J. Miller will be invited back to the Research Board to enable a focused robust discussion on IP.

   b. Draft NSERC Strategic Plan
      NSERC has a new President D. Mario Pinto. New strategic plan and 4 priority areas.
      ACTION: M. Owen will draft a response that can be circulated with the NSERC draft document and seek feedback.

      A question arose regarding visiting scholars (CIC policy on temporary workers) as this will be an issue with recruiting faculty.

   c. Records Management Policy Consultation (Niall O’Halloran, guest)
      N. O’Halloran presented the draft Records Management Policy and sought feedback. Two goals of the process are to develop a records policy and a retention schedule.

      P. Drayson noted that the university is at risk without appropriate document retention.

      ACTION: Send feedback to N. O’Halloran.

      A question arose regarding the word “record” and its broad definition. A. Leach asked about research data arising from studies with humans and issues related to conflict of policy. It was suggested that the policy should include examples of documents (categories, what to include and not include), under which area they fall and how the documents are protected.
There is a need to have clarification on records and procedures, scope and authority of to whom it applies.

ACTION: Send N. O’Halloran a list of what records are questionable and your ideas on how they should be handled.
